Granby is very proud once again to sponsor and take place in this year's COHA Cleaner Heat Conference. During this great networking event, we personally invite you to engage with your associations' board and members, industry peers, manufacturers and all industry stakeholders present.

During the past 60 years, Granby has continuously gone through great lengths to support the oil heat industry all over Canada by continuing to bring innovative, safe, efficient and quality built products to the market along with the most comprehensive technical support and training along with the best customer service.

This year's conference theme, The Future Burns Bright, is one that Granby shares as well; we wish long life to COHA and all its members. Granby would like to recognize COHA for all its accomplishments and efforts throughout the years. COHA's work is not yet complete and we invite every industry stakeholder to join Granby in continuing to support your industry association.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all our customers for their continuing support over the years and encourage everyone to meet with our representatives during this event to learn more about our products and services.

Have a great conference!!
